July 2001

At the July 14 meeting we will be viewing a video on Legacy Family Tree. The video will take most or all of the meeting, but any time left will be devoted to answering questions about the program.

Legacy Family Tree is a program that used to be sold for $30. But in December 2000, the makers of the program announced that they were making it available absolutely free. They also announced a new "Deluxe Edition", with even more features, which would sell for only $20.

Legacy's web site offers a free newsletter which is generally sent once every couple of weeks. It offers tips on how to better use the program, along with information about Legacy user groups, etc.

The remainder of this month's "Bytes and Branches" newsletter is simply an issue of the Legacy News email.

You can see past editions of the Legacy newsletter at:

<http://www.legacyfamilytree.com/Newsletters.asp>

And to see their home page, which includes information about how to download their free Standard Edition and how to buy their Deluxe Edition, go to:

TIPS FROM THE EXPERTS

* Creating PDF Files

Did you know that Legacy 3.0 Deluxe can create the popular Adobe PDF (Portable Document File) file? Adobe PDF files retain the look of the original document in a compact format ideal for e-mail attachments or files that can be downloaded from the Internet. With the free Adobe Acrobat Reader software, you can view and print Adobe PDF files across a broad range of hardware and operating systems. You can download a sample report from <http://www.legacyfamilytree.com/BClarke.pdf>.

To create a PDF a report in Legacy 3.0 Deluxe Edition:

1. Select the kind of report to create and choose your report options. Next click the Preview button on the right side of the report screen. Legacy then builds the report and paginates it. The first page is then displayed on the screen.
2. Click Create PDF to create the report as an Adobe PDF file. This can be viewed with the free Adobe Acrobat Reader.

You can download the free Adobe Acrobat reader from <http://www.adobe.com/products/acrobat/readstep.html>. In addition after the Adobe Acrobat Reader is installed, you can customize Legacy to launch the reader every time you create a PDF file. Simply click Options on the menu bar and select Customize / Launch. Click the Change button and specify the drive and path to the Adobe Acrobat Reader. For example, most Acrobat Reader installations will install the software to: C:\Program Files\Adobe\Acrobat 4.0\Reader\AcroRd32.exe. (This will vary depending on your version of the reader.)

PDF file creation is a feature found in the Legacy 3.0 Deluxe Edition, and not the Standard Edition. To order or upgrade to the Legacy 3.0 Deluxe Edition please visit: http://www.legacyfamilytree.com/Store/enter.html?target=Legacy\_Products.html

* Emailing Legacy Reports

Any legacy report that can be created as a saved file (PDF, text, RTF, HTML and GEDCOM files) can be attached to an outgoing e-mail message. The recipient can then have a copy of whatever information was contained in the attachment. When creating a PDF, GEDCOM or other file, it is critical that you make note of where the file is being saved! The My Documents folder on your hard drive is an ideal location, then you will always know to look there.

When composing a new e-mail message (or replying) the message screen of most e-mail programs has an Attachment button with a paper clip picture on it. Click the Attachment button and an insert/attach file screen will open (the name of this screen will vary). Next browse to the folder where you saved the file and double-click on it. The file will be attached to the e-mail message automatically.

The Legacy Intermediate Training video features an easy-to-understand segment on emailing reports. You can order the video from the Legacy Online Store http://www.legacyfamilytree.com/Store/enter.html?target=Training\_Videos.html

HUMOR

* In Need of Historical Context -
 I found a picture on the Internet of a family member from the late 1700's. It was a painting that had been scanned into an article about one of my family lines.
 My 13-year old stepson walked by my computer and asked who the man was. As I was explaining the distant relationship, he told me that what he really wanted to know was

"how the guy put his picture on the Internet. I didn't think they even had electricity back then."

What I first took as a "blonde moment" is probably a statement about the next generation: they have never known a time when the Internet wasn't here.

Thank you to J.W.
